The Council also owns play equipment on Wrockwardine Playing Fields – this equipment was donated to the Council and so has a nominal value but Council would incur replacement costs.

* The brick built bus shelter (Admaston) was gifted to the Parish by the Borough at no cost but nevertheless there would be a cost of replacement.

During 2010 the council acquired playing equipment at no charge on Pemberton Road and Walcot. Although this equipment has an insurance value of approximately £100'000, it is not counted as an asset as it would incur replacement costs.

During 2016 the council purchased play equipment for Pemberton Road for £10'650 – this is included in the asset register at purchase cost.

During 2016 two additional street signs were purchased at a cost of £670.58 - this is included in the asset register at purchase cost.
